Political Rallies...

Opinions Surveyed

By Judy Geissler
Universe Staff Writer

Students will participate Tuesday and Thursday in the national collegiate presidential survey, "Choice '68."

A poll, co-sponsored on campus by the ASBYU Student Reunion office and Time magazine, provides students with an opportunity to name their preferences among those mentioned as potential candidates. Students will also have the opportunity to voice their opinions on such issues as U.S. policy in Vietnam and the urban crisis.

1500 CAMPUSES
Held at BYU will be held nationwide on 1500 campuses throughout the nation. More than two million students will participate in "Choice '68" making it the single most significant measurement of student opinion thus far this year. Supporters of candidates on the "Choice '68" ballot will hold rallies to win support for their candidates.

Backers of former Vice-president Richard Nixon will hear Rex Hanson, Nixon's Utah representative, at 6:30 p.m. today in A-170 Jesse Knight Bldg.

At 7:30, supporters of vice-president Hubert Humphrey, Senator Robert Kennedy and Senator Eugene McCarthy will hear representatives of their candidates speak in the same room.

REPRESENTATIVES

Professor Ed Firmage of the University of Utah will speak for Humphrey. Kennedy will be represented by John Preston Creer, and McCarthy's representative will be Professor Peter Appleby of the U. of Utah.

Backers of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace will hold their rally at 8 p.m. in 115 Jesse Knight Bldg. Representing Wallace will be Clyde Freeman and Dr. Robert Thompson, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Utah American Independent Party.

DEVOTIONAL

President Joseph Fielding Smith, counselor to the First Presidency and President of the Council of the Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will be the Devotional Assembly speaker Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Sweet-voiced Vocalist Warmed Prom Crowd

by Camilla Miner
Culture Editor

Some singers are loud and casual, but Glenn Yarbrough warmed and casual Friday night at the Junior Prom con-

His unique, high tenor voice and his easy manner were received by an almost full house of students. He was reserved because he was not trying to be, as he conducted through in a low-key manner.

Rod McKuen once said he didn't suppose Glenn Yarbrough ever kissed a girl, sailed a boat or sang a song he didn't a little bit in love with. That quality of sincerity neated the show.

OLD FAVORITES

He sang all of the old favorites like "She," "Baby The Must Fall" and "Stanyon Street." He read and sang try to music.

Like Yarbrough, two other groups on the show dressed casual attire, but their talent was anything but casual. Precision marked the Fred Ramirez Trio with the violinist who makes records that don't sell, the Jewish player from Philadelphia, who likes to sing along with in and the "sex symbol" who wears fertility beads and is the drums.

Yarbrough introduced a new group, two guitarists—named Maffit and Davies. The ballader explained his custom on tours to take along a beginning group second act. With complex arrangements on the guitars, two sang some novelty songs. They were talented musicians and had a rather mungy, loveable appeal.

GROUP SINGING

A high point of the concert was the song, "Crucifixus." Yarbrough sang here last year. And the group singing a group spirit as he had the audience join in on the bus of three ballads. Students sang "That's okay, Rose" and said, "Don't you worry none..." under Yarbrough's direction.

The warm feeling of the group singing was the overall ting of the warm concert.

ENTHUSIASTIC ANGELS

Angel Flight members Brenda Peterson and Linda Petrone persuade Jim Demarco to donate to the semi-annual campus blood drive now under way. Students may sign up this week in front of the Wilkinson Center elevator.

BYU Indian Week Brings Will Rogers

Shades of the Book of Mormon, it's American Indian Week at BYU.

Visiting the campus will be Will Rogers, Jr., special assistant to Commissioner Robert L. Bennett of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, U.S. Department of the Interior.

Rogers, a Cherokee, has starred in several movies in recent years. He will speak in the Varsity Theater at noon Thursday.

On Friday, Miss Indian BYU and her attendants will be chosen, speech contest winners will be announced and the most popular Indian boy and girl will be selected.

FIRESIDE

Bishop Leon R. Hartshorn of BYU 56th Ward (all Indian) will be the featured speaker at a fireside yesterday.

Colorful highlights of the week will include Indian dances and a fashion show, featuring authentic Indian apparel. Indian dances and a fashion show will be Wednesday at noon on the west patio of the Wilkinson Center.

Cultural displays will be on exhibit throughout the week in the Reception Center of the Wilkinson Center. On Tuesday and Thursday numerous movies depicting Indian life and culture will be shown in the Varsity Theater.

YOUTH CONFERENCE

An all-LDS Lamanite Youth Conference is scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

Participating in the Youth Conference will be students from the LDS Indian Seminary Program, the LDS Student Placement Program, and the BYU Indian Education Program.

Indian students from other universities and LDS Indian leaders will also participate.

Keynote speaker at the conference on Friday will be Elder A. Theodore Tuttle of the LDS First Council of Seventy. Guests will include Stewart Durrant, executive secretary of the LDS Church Indian Committee, several General Authorities of the LDS Church, and Indian leaders.

There are 135 Indian students enrolled at BYU.

The Church This Week

by Pierre Hathaway
Religion Editor

No sooner than the opening of the Visitor's Center at the Hemis-Fair '68, the Church is making plans for the construction of another. The new one is to be built in Independence, Mo. Presently more than a score of visitor's centers are operated by the Church on the grounds of the thirteen temples and at places of historical interest to the Mormon people.

JACKSON COUNTY BUILDING

The site of the visitor's center is on part of the land that was dedicated by Joseph Smith for the temple "in the center place of Zion." Originally 63.27 acres were dedicated. The Church presently holds 18 acres.

The edifice will be a two-story concrete building faced in white stone. Inside visual displays will be used to show the historical significance of the Jackson County area. Art in the form of painting, sculpture, and movies will be employed in the presentation.

THREE PRESIDENTS CALLED

The calling of three new Mission Presidents was announced last week by the First Presidency. The areas in which they will serve have not been revealed.

Arthur S. Anderson, a Regional Representative of The Twelve, was called to be a mission president. Mr. Anderson is an advertising executive in Salt Lake City, where he lives with his wife and seven children.

Arturo Rivera Martinez was a member of the Midvale Stake High Council when he was called as a Mission President.

Martinez is a cartographic technician. He lives in Sandy, Utah, with his wife and five children.

PRESIDENT FOURTEEN YEARS

President Leland Davey will end a fourteen-year run as president of the Cannon Stake with his call to a Mission Presidency.

President Davey and his wife were both students at the University of Utah. This year they will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. They have four children.

Kenneth Sheffield of Kaysville was killed in a car accident on the April 17. He was on the General Board of the YMMIA for over 19 years.

TWO MORE STATIONS

Bonneville International, the Church's holding corporation for communications facilities, has acquired two more radio stations.

KBIG-AM and KBIG-FM were recently purchased for about two million from The John H. Poole Properties Inc. The recent additions will bring to nine the total of broadcasting facilities owned by Bonneville International. The new facilities are in the Los Angeles area.

CERTAIN ANOMALIES

Editor:

We would like to bring to the attention of the student body, certain anomalies within the proposed University Calendar for the years 1968 thru 1970.

As the schedule is now set up, classes are due to begin next fall on Sept. 22, recess for Christmas on Dec. 20, return on Jan. 6 and finish on June 3. The schedule for the following year is similar with the dates respectively set at Sept. 22, Dec. 19, Jan. 5, and June 2. Spring vacation will be unchanged next year.

We feel that such a schedule offers many disadvantages. Most summer jobs terminate around labor day, thus there is little advantage to beginning school later. On the other hand, there is a distinct advantage in obtaining jobs early before other schools let out in June.

Dismissing school for Christmas on the 20th leaves little travel time and lessens the "joys" of anticipation. After New Year day a student has only the "grim prospect of school to face. We prolong the agony? The plan schedule may also tend to conflict with other college schedules which start and end earlier, making it harder to visit friends.

The above expressed ideas are entirely ours, let's hear our other student opinion on the subject.

Class Government...

There Are Those Against It...

A Satirical Look at BYU's

Student Government

by Roy Musick

After much study and meditation I now clearly see that we need class government at BYU.

Yes, I now see the light.

Helping me to my new pursuit of salvation was the brilliant decision of the big three: Grant Richards, Merwin Grant and Severin Johnson. You see, they made the greatest improvement of class government on the campus—it is called the Class Co-ordinating Committee (CCC).

CCC is the answer to what has ailed Class government the past two decades.

Even though I'm sure everyone knows what the CCC is, I will attempt to describe it. The committee will be comprised of the five class presidents who will take one third of the class budget and spend it together. That's it. Aren't you impressed?

Just think. We can now have a really effective class government next year. There will be bigger and better everything. No programs were named by the big three—just "bigger and better."

I'm sure it's this new impetus to the classes which accounted for the astounding, heart-warming support the voters gave class-leader hopefuls.

A fantastic 1,721 voted in the primaries. This is even greater than the number of students who voted in 1919—when 1,720 were students on campus.

Yes, the newly passed CCC impressive voting turn-out made my life's ways reverend. We simply must have class government.

I further explain my conversion let's quickly review the candidate's mind expanding platforms.

Many have committed time to memory; but let's review.

If elected, candidates promise graduates draft deferments, a no-language language requirement for the Ph.D. program, a student-run forum program (to be wrestled away from the present Administration), a permanent column about class government in the Daily Universe (I thought I had been writing one all year), teachers who may us think not memorize and least, but not last "greater class unity."

Don't you feel like shouting, "Hallelujah!" and then being converted by the new look in the classes.

With classes taking such a giant step in brand new responsibilities next year, is exonerating to anticipate who will be the eventual winners of the class offices.

Look at the graduate class voting. On four votes separate the two contenders. One has 74 and the other has 70. I know tension is bad from the impending final but just look.

All five offices of president have candidates separated by less than 100 votes.

What a race.

I guess I'm a little over-excited about the election race, but do you see my point? We really need class government because so many students are involved in this leadership building enterprise.

Since my conversion I have felt somewhat like Paul of Tarsus. I felt badly about having persecuted class government in the past and I'm saying it had no place at BYU as the organization is a "waste of student money" and represents only a source of conflict on the scheduling calendar.

I hang my head in penitence.

Now I pick up the Daily Universe and gaze wantonly at the "Week Ahead." On Tuesday there was George Wallace, "Candida," John Longden and the Derby II Snatch. Oh, goody. The derby topped perfect day.

On Thursday there was Lilienthal Skousen, Tran Van Dinh, "Beckett," Ut Symphony and Hare's N. Hound.

Clap my hands for joy.

The classes are sponsoring Hare's N. Hound amid that awful long-haired, ademic stuff.

Where would BYU be without such wonderful organization like class government?

...But Some Are For It...

The Class Co-ordinating Council (CCC) is here for at least a year, so let's make the most of it.

Maybe we don't love the idea of the CCC, and perhaps if we had been sitting on the Executive Council, we would have had a different proposal for class government. But now the CCC is a reality, and it deserves a chance to prove itself.

The only chance the CCC has for success is if the student body grants it the support it needs. This support can come in only one form: student participation in class elections.

In last week's primaries for class office, two out of nine positions were uncontested. Less than eight per cent of the student body even bothered to cast ballots. In the graduate class, only 70 votes were needed to put a candidate into the finals.

This level of participation dooms the CCC (and with it, class government) failure before it really begins.

If we are to have the CCC for a year, we are to continue with class government if we are to give them one fighting chance for success, we must do our share by participating in class elections.

Let's get out and vote, and give the CCC a chance to prove itself. After all, anything is better than what we have now. j.e.

Dr. Sagers Receives Medical Science Grant

Bacteriologist Richard D. Sagers has received a five year grant from the National Institute of General Medical Sciences to research "Enzymes and Co-factors Associated with Glycine metabolism."

Dr. Sagers, author of 41 papers concerning activities of bacteria and enzymes, has been studying bacterial enzyme phenomena for several years.

The newly received grant valued at approximately $23,000 per year will enable Dr. Sagers to probe deeper into the enzymatic sequence in metabolism of the amino acid, glycine, not only in bacteria, but also in higher forms of life.

"The ultimate goal of this and other related research is to learn the cellular control mechanism which regulates all of the functions so that the differences between normal and abnormal cells can be determined," explained Dr. Sagers. "When cause of cell abnormalities are determined, blocking agents may be used to reverse the process."

Latin America Offers Employment Rewards

rewards to those Americans making assignments in Latin America are substantial," a team of 3A students reported recently. Under the direction of Dr. Robert J. Jaines, Director of the MBA program at BYU and Dr. Edward Jensen of the College of Business Management, a team of five students presented "Latin America, Land of Opportunities," a conclusion of the intensive study that "as the growth rate economies of the Latin American nations continues to increase, the standards of living will continue to rise." Experience in the past indicates that rising living standards promote greater political stability. Since many Latin American countries have no income tax requirements, some businessmen found that while earning $18,000 a year, they could save as much as $50,000 in five or six years. "It is important," the team advised, "for those people desiring to go to Latin America to study the geographic area, the firm and the position."

Standards Office Offers 'D' Slip Cures

- Make an appointment with the instructor during posted office hours to discuss causes of poor grades and suggestions for improvement.

- See a faculty advisor to help with class scheduling and planning.
- Contact the Tutoring Service for free tutoring in most subjects.

The office is in A-202 Jesse Knight Bldg., Ext. 3316.

- Counseling Services, located in C-273 Smoot Administration Bldg., offers aid with educational, vocational and personal problems.

Attention All 1968 Graduates

Congratulations on this fine achievement! This is the "something good" you've been looking for.

And now AM radio! Add the beautiful too. The Model Twenty-Four also available with new high quality AM!

When you go shopping for "something really good" in stereo equipment, you usually have to pay more than you expected, or settle for something less than you expected.

The KLH Model Twenty-Four changes that situation—radically.

The Model Twenty-Four is a complete stereo music system. Its performance and sound quality are close—very close—to that of the best equipment that KLH, or anyone else, makes. But it costs only a fraction of what it sounds like. And it fits graciously into any living room.

There's nothing missing from the Model Twenty-Four. It has a sensitive, drift-free FM stereo tuner, a custom-made Gerard record changer with Pickering cartridge and diamond stylus, plus jacks for external equipment and for making tape recordings. The solid-state circuitry is powerful enough for any living room, and the unobtrusive speaker cabinets contain a pair of full-range, two-speaker systems.

The modest size and price of the Twenty-Four are the results of advanced engineering instead of corner-cutting. Everything from its components to its solid-walnut cabinetry is designed to provide a genuine surprise rather than that "nice for the money" feeling. Come see and hear how little it can cost for something really good.

* A TRADEMARK OF KEE RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

"I wanted to work for a small company. It may sound crazy, but that's why I went with IBM."

"When I was in school, I dreaded the thought of working for some huge company where I'd be just another number," says IBM's Jim Hamilton. (Jim, who has a B.S. in Electrical Engineering, is a Systems Engineering Manager in Marketing.)

"At the same time, I knew there were definite advantages in working for a large firm. So as I interviewed each company, I checked into the degree of individuality I could expect there.

"One of the main reasons I picked IBM was their decentralization. They've got over 300 locations throughout the country. Which to me means a big company with a small-company atmosphere."

IBM's small team concept

"Actually, there's plenty of decentralization even within each location. For instance, in science and engineering, they use a small team concept. It means, no matter how large the project, you work individually or as part of a small team—about four or five people.

"In marketing, I was pretty much my own boss even before I became a manager. As a systems engineer, it's up to you to find the solution to a customer's problem, and then see it's carried out in the optimum way. You work with the customer every step of the way."

There's a lot more to the IBM story than Jim has mentioned. For more information, visit your campus placement office or send an outline of your interests and educational background to E. C. Purtell, Jr., IBM Corporation, Dept. C, 3424 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90005. We're an equal opportunity employer.

Aggies Fall Hard On BYU Links

Some new names highlighted BYU's golf roster Friday afternoon as the Cougars romped past Utah State, 21½-3½.

Coach Karl Tucker sent a junior, two sophomores plus three promising frosh against the six-man Aggie team and lost only one match. Seniors John Miller and Mike Taylor sat this one out.

Jack Chapman of BYU claimed medalist honors for the day's round with a 71. Ken Clark was low man for the Aggies at 74.

Three other Cougars were on the heels of Chapman for low-man honors. Lane Bennett, Don Hawken and Ron Jamney all turned in 73's.

Freshman Mike Achterberg won with a 76, while another yearling Mitch Voges dropped the only Cougar match with a 78.
